The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between

The People of the United Kingdom
His Majesty's Government

– and

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown

And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families. They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles of the Armed Forces Covenant

1.1 We Logiq Consulting will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- In some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured or bereaved.

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 We recognise the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business and to our country. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- Promoting the Armed Forces: promoting the fact that we are an Armed Forces friendly organisation, to our employees, associates, customers, suppliers and the wider public; we will publicise the Armed Forces Covenant by displaying the Armed Forces Covenant Logo on our website and recruitment advertisements.
- Veterans: supporting the employment of veterans young and old, recognising the transference of military skills and qualifications within our recruitment selection process; working with the Career Transition Partnership supporting the employment of service leavers.
- Service Spouses & Partners: engaging with forces families job boards (www.forcesfamiliesjobs.co.uk); supporting the employment of Service spouses and partners by providing flexible working hours and leave aligned to a partner's/ spouse deployment.
- Reserves: supporting our employees who are members of the Reserve Force; granting an additional 10 days paid leave per annum supporting Reserve Forces training; supporting any mobilisations and deployment.
- Cadet Organisations: supporting our employees who are volunteer leaders in military cadet organisations, granting additional 10 days paid leave per annum to attend training camps and courses; actively encourage staff members to become volunteer leaders in cadet organisations; supporting military cadet units in our local community, where possible; recognise the benefits of employing cadets/ex cadets within the workforce.

- National Events: Supporting Armed Forces Day, Reserves Day, the Poppy Appeal Day and Remembrance activities
- Armed Forces Charities: Supporting Armed Forces charities with fundraising and supporting staff who volunteer to assist.

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our literature and/or on our website, setting out how we will seek to honour them and inviting feedback from the Service community and our customers on how we are doing.
